NEW VESSEL FOR SALE

The Swedish Schooner Rio, of 110 English tons burden, cop ered and copper-fastened, built at Gefle, in Sweden, in the month of July, 1868, classified Veritas, for seven years, 3 A 11 drawing with full cargo eigh. feet of water, is for sale.

Rarely does an occasion offer for buying a small vessel combining so many qualities, for she was built under the direction of the Swedish captain who has made several voyages to the River Plate, and many trips up the Parana and Paraguay, and nothing was omitted in the construction for making her a first-rate sea and river craft.

She is strongly built and very swift, for notwithstanding bad weather and contrary winds, she made her first voyage from Cadiz to Montevideo, with a full cargo, in 56 days.

Everything on board the vessel is in the best order, in fact, she is in every way ready for sea. For the greater convenience of intending purchasers, she has been anchored near the Mole, and those who desire to see her can easily get on board.

It being an admitted fact, that "Money makes money," the object of LA BIENHECHORA could not be better, since it opens a vast Savings Bank for the surplus or savings of the Public, so that, by the proper employment of these small gains, a moderate capital, or even annuity, may be secured in a short time. By this means a provident, though helpless, family can husband their small means, and, in time and, attain a competency.

It being proved that the accumulation of interest is the most powerful means of augmenting the capital, THE BIENHECHORA DEL PLATA—an Argentine Company, whose only investments are in the country—holds out to Subscribers greater advantages than any other Institution, by reason of all its dealings being in the River Plate, where are current as large interests as in any part of the world.

HANDBOOK FOR THE RIVER PLATE.

PROSPECTUS.

1000 PAGES OCTAVO, WITH MAPS.

Six years have elapsed since we published the first crude edition of our Hand-book and Directory. It had many defects, both in the method of compilation and in the get-up of the work; nevertheless, it was of some utility to the public especially to newcomers. We should have long since published an improved edition, but for the Paraguayan war and other circumstances, especially the great outlay such a work involves. Small and imperfect as the first Handbook was, it cost us over £500 sterling.

The new Handbook will be a great improvement on the last, in fact a work of quite different dimensions and matter: it will form a volume of 1000 pages octavo, with maps, of Buenos Ayres, the River Plate countries, and Monte Video and the edition will be of ten thousand copies. We intended to spare no labor or expense, with the view of making the work as complete as possible, and the price (100$ m|c.) will be much less than is usual to so large a book. To give a synopsis of its contents we may mention the principal chapters or sections, viz—

I. Description of Buenos Ayres, its buildings, institutions, and suburbs.
II. Directory of Foreign Residents (in town).
III. List of principal native houses, shopkeepers &c.
IV. The Province of Buenos Ayres and its sheep-farms.
V. Directory of Estancieros and sheep-farmers
VI. The various partidos, North, West and South.
VII. Abstract of Customs and Municipal laws.
VIII. General view of the Argentine Republic
IX. Sheep-farming in Entre-Rios.
X. The Central Argentine Railway, Santa Fé and Cordoba.
XI. The Provinces of the Andes.
XII The upper Provinces, the Rio Vermejo, and Gran Chaco.
XIII. General sketch of Paraguay.
XIV. The Republic of Uruguay: sheep and cattle farms.
XV. Description of Montevideo, city Directory, &c.

We intend to make special notice of all Foreign establishments, companies, institutes, and so forth: as these matters will be particularly interesting to readers in Europe we beg, of the managers of all such companies and establishments to favor us with whatever data they can conveniently afford. For the city, we shall require such information within 15 days from date, and for the camp districts within the current month of February.

Advertisements will be received to the 20th inst. at the rate of 50$ m|c. per page 300 half page and 150 quarter do.

The edition is intended for circulation during 1869 and 1870; it will appear on May 1st. of the current year.

THE FRONTIERS.

If half the south end of the city had been on fire, and the church bells set a ringing for help, the peaceful inhabitants of the South Plaza could not have been more alarmed than on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, when a regiment of artillery, fully armed and accoutred, and accompanied by about twenty women, marched up to the station of the Great Southern Railway en route for Tandil. The bullock cart men and the loungers of the Plaza crowded round the station to discover what new enemy the Argentines were about to fight, and notwithstanding the assurances by the officers and others that the troops were merely marching to the frontier to defend it, scarcely a man in that motley crowd believed the statement.

The decided action which the Government has taken in this matter, without the loss of a single moment, proves that notwithstanding all the abuse which the present Administration receives from a factious opposition, the men in office are not indifferent to the true interests of the country, and use every exertion to rescue us from the situation to which years of neglect has reduced us.

Too long have the grievances of the estancieros been aggravated by insult, their continuous complaints not merely disregarded, but even checked by authority, and even the very woes against which they remonstrated confirmed by the parties then in power. It will be indeed gratifying to our friends on the frontiers to learn that the promises of the President respecting their protection are something more than mere words.

On Monday Governor Castro despatched his note to the National Government, respecting the unprotected state of the frontiers, accompanied by a petition of the estancieros of Bragado and Nueve de Julio, announcing an impending invasion. On Tuesday these notes were published, and on Wednesday the troops in question marched. This probably is the first instance on record of an Argentine Government foregoing official red tapeism, for the protection of life and property in the camp. The wretched formalities of the Government House have for once been laid aside, and the energy and decision which the President has betrayed speaks to his fellow citizens with the spirit of a man intent upon guarding their interests.

The troops at the railway station on so short a notice will prove to the public that at last the Chief Magistrate of this country can determine and act for himself, and it brings him forward before the estancieros in a far more favorable light than had he stumped through the Province, making speeches at every country town.

President Sarmiento may rely that the estancieros, whose properties have been so long jeopardised, and whose feelings of respect for the Government have been so long alienated, will recognise in this speedy act of the Minister of War, that the frontier defences have at last got into good hands, and that, in point of fact, there is at last a government in Buenos Ayres.

The wretched state of the frontiers, for the last few years, and the immense losses sustained by the estancieros have taught the country people the fact that even in a free and liberal country like this, their rights, their lives, and their properties may have been confided to the keeping of those whose very zeal is hypocrisy, and who to really defend the public interests most positively begin by forswearing their very principles. We have no wish to be too severe. The present government that proves by its acts to be so unmistakably in earnest merits the support and assistance of the community.

The general feeling in the country districts is that the Government in Buenos Ayres has too much to do with city matters to pay any higher attention to camp affairs, than to name the justices of the peace. Even in the district of Lujan, which is one of the most populous, and most advanced, such is the state of ignorance of many of the country people, that they do not know the name of the Governor or President, the sole authority they know or recognise being be teniente alcalde, or the Juez de Paz.

The frontier question, although one of the most important, and demanding immediate attention, is not the only question which country interests require to be considered.

President Batlle, the Chief Magistrate of the Banda Oriental, has, in his message, on the inauguration of the Chambers, set a worthy example to our public men here, in calling the attention of the legislators to the melancholy state of the camp, and the sad condition of the criminal tribunals, which demand the most sweeping reform.

We want in every partido of the camps of Buenos Ayres, a Criminal committee or jury, for the summary trial of all offenders; and we trust now, as the Government has proved its sincerity by despatching at today's warning a regiment of troops to the frontier, it will also use its influence to get a summary jurisdiction act at once introduced and passed by the Legislature.

The Standard Museum.

The following is a list of the valuable collection of Paraguayan curiosities brought down from Asuncion by Mr. Craufurd, and now on exhibition in our office:—

No. 572. The table cover of Lopez' campaigning desk, which was neatly fitted up in the back part of an omnibus with table, drawers, pigeon holes, &c. The front part of the vehicle or coupé was also fitted up with drawers and repository for archives. This carriage, together with another in which Mme. Lynch used to accompany Lopez in his campaign, is now at the headquarters of the Argentine Army at Trinidad. The table cover is a piece of superfine dark blue cloth about a yard and a half square, with a heavy gold lace and gold fringe all round. It was taken out of the carriage by Major Juan Manuel Barenachea, who was in the front rank of the attacking party, and snatched this valuable relic with his own hands when the Argentine forces took Lomas.

The gallant Major presented to Mr. Craufurd this trophy, which is invested with a melancholy historic interest from the fact that upon it Lopez signed the death warrants of so many people, particularly the Bishop of Asuncion, his brother, Benigno Lopez, Minister Berges, and many others.

No. 573. A small chair, made of Paraguayan wood, tastefully inlaid with coloured woods. The design on the seat and back represents flowers, and as a specimen of native industry this piece of furniture is of the highest interest. We notice a shamrock on the back of the chair.

No. 574. A hamaca, made with very fine and narrow stripes of raw hide, woven together, also a very interesting specimen of native manufacture. Made from the hide of a wild animal which infests the woods that skirt Lake Ipacaray: this hammock is very strong, and far superior to the common cotton hammocks on sale in this city.

No. 575. A small box of Paraguayan wood, with a curiously carved crucifix. The inside of the box is ornamented with a profusion of flowers made of silver foil. Found at Pirayu immediately after the Paraguayans left.

No. 576. A small figure, representing Santa Philomena, dressed in black, with a cross in one hand and a bunch of palm leaves in the other.—Picked up at Itagua near the house of an Italian, who volunteered, fought at Humaitá, got severely wounded, and was subsequently shot by order of Lopez as a traitor or conspirator.

No. 577. A small figure of Santa Balthazar, a negro saint, with a high brimless hat, painted red, and a cloak of the same colour, holding in one hand a wooden censer and in the other a wooden palm leaf.

No. 578. A small crucifix, the cross made of wood, and rather well carved, also found at Itagua.

No. 579. A splendid collection of samples of different Paragnayan woods expressly arranged and presented to Mr. Craufurd, by order of his Excellency General E. Mitre. The great majority of these samples are small square pieces, but there are six great blocks.

The following are the names of these precious woods:

1. Palo de Rosa.
2. Quirandy.
3. Yncieno Colorado.
4. Curupay.
5. Timboyata digo Timboy-Ata.
6. Morosybo.
7. Arabe.
8. Canelon.
9. Fayi-Para—Lapacho con vetas.
10. Catigua.
11. Ybahay.
12. Yryraro
13. Yncieno.
14. Nuati-Pyti.
15. Laurel Xhu—Laurel Negro.
16. Fataré.
17. Esbina de Corona.
18. Yrina-Pyta—Palo Colorado.
19. Curupay.
20. Guayaibi.
21. Laurel Blanco.

No. 580. An earthenware jar of Paraguayan manufacture, with a red varnish outside, over which are painted arabesque flowers of variegated colours. These jars, called tinajas, are used for holding water, and no house in Asuncion is without a set of them, of all sizes and shapes.

No. 581. A set of buttons, for "tirador," made up with five Spanish pillar dollars, now a very rare coin, the middle one having a gold coin riveted to the centre, and the links made of solid silver. Found on the body of a Paraguayan officer in the woods.

No. 582. A book, containing the receipts of the National Treasury of the Republic for the month of November, 1862. Found in the printing-office of the "Semanario" at Luque and containing an exact account of all disbursements of the State for that month.

No. 583. An almost complete set of "Semanarios," from an early date to the month of May, 1868. The greatest portion of them were found in the house of Dr. Stewart in Asuncion, but several of them were picked up at Luque, and the streets and highways are strewn with old numbers.

No 584. Detached numbers of the "Lambaré," a periodical published in the Guarani language, the only publication of the kind in the world, having in the frontispiece a woodcut representing an Indian attacking with bow and arrow a three-headed monster, each of whose heads is pierced with an arrow, and emblematical of the triple alliance. In the distance is a railway train and various palm trees Subscribers who understand Guarani will prize this paper.

No. 585. A legal document on stamped paper, being the deed of sale of a slave to Don Miguel Baez for the sum of 125 dollars. We particularly recommend to our anti-slavery friends the perusal of this curious document.

THE PROTESTANT CEMETERY.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

B. Ayres, Feb. 15, '69.

To the Members of the Municipal Health Committee.

The closing and consequent removal of the English Protestant Cemetery, ordered by the Municipality in virtue of powers conferred on them by the laws of the country, had given rise to complaints on the part of the English and North American residents, which have even assumed the form of diplomatic remonstrances on the part of their respective Ministers, to the National Government.

Although this matter is in no way comprised within the jurisdiction of the Provincial Government, the present and former state of the question are not unknown to it, in consequence of private interviews with the Protestant Cemetery Committee, and the National Government having asked its opinion in consequence of the notes received from the English and North American Ministers.

Both before and after the receipt of those diplomatic remonstrances, the Governor had offered his friendly mediation between the Municipality and Cemetery Committee, with the object of bringing this matter to a friendly and satisfactory conclusion, and it is satisfactory to him to think that he has succeeded, if not in the manner proposed, at least in a way that may be considered perfectly agreeable.

Since the first interviews held for this purpose with the Committee of the Protestant residents, said Committee having previously made proposals to the Municipality that were, for reasons of convenience, refused, the Governor studiously avoided discussing the rights of the question, confining himself to the mere fact of the removal. The question once placed on this footing, the settlement could not be difficult, as the best and most friendly dispositions existed on both sides; and the idea of a common cemetery where the remains of both Protestants and Catholics might rest together, side by side, was submitted by the Governor to the consideration of the Committee of Protestant residents.

The Public Cemetery Law throws open the gate to all, no matter what their religious convictions may be, and without prescribing special division between each sect.

If, in the ordinary relations of social life, we are satisfied to see all races and sects indiscriminately enjoying the protection of our laws and customs, and persons of different religions intimately united during life, it is difficult to imagine why, after death, their remains should repose apart, divided by distance and a kind of antagonism. On the other hand, the Protestants paying the same taxes as the Catholics, and the Municipal Cemetery being declared open to all, it was just that all should enjoy the same advantages: the more so, as it might be considered a just reparation for the injury done by the removal to the proprietors of the Protestant Cemetery; and the Governor proposed that the Municipality should erect an appropriate place at their own expense, where the burial rites might be performed.

This proposal of the Governor, which bears the stamp of liberality, and, besides, relieves the English community from the cost of maintaining their own Cemetery, was approved of by each and every member of the Committee on condition of submitting it to their co-religionists.

These latter received the proposal in a hostile manner easily understood, for religious convictions are in general fixed and unalterable, and, in consequence, the Committee have modified their idea on the following bases:

The Protestants will buy from the Municipality one or two squares of land within the Public Cemetery, without of any kind of enclosure; they will take charge and pay the expenses of their own ground, they will have a separate private entrance, and the Municipality will build for them on their own land a chapel and house for the gravedigger.

As will be seen, the Protestant community decline the advantages afforded by the common Cemetery, and prefer keeping one at their own expense; and besides, taking into account the deference due to the religious scruples and convictions of those who refused to accept the Governor's proposal in its entirety, it will be seen that the present arrangement is, on the whole, fair.

And thus, a matter which greatly preoccupied the public mind has been satisfactorily arranged, and the first step taken towards inducing the numerous and important body of foreign Protestant residents to relinquish that barrier with which they wished to isolate themselves even in their last home—a barrier the only use of which is to destroy, after death, the relationship existing during life.

In addressing you by the Governor's orders, informing you of the result of his interference in this matter, which is apparent in the agreement presented by the Protestant Cemetery Committee, I have thought it right to enter into details, in order to lay before you both the original idea and the modifications it has since undergone.

God preserve you.

JUAN S. FERNANDEZ.

THE LIGHTERS AGAIN.

To the Editors of the "Standard."

Gentlemen:

We wish to call your attention to the following abuse, and very serious inconvenience to merchants, in receiving goods per steamer from England It is now many days since the La Place left this for England, and—can you credit it—a large portion of her cargo is still on board the lighters. The same happened with goods per City of Limerick, leaving to-day; but the fact is that these lighters, loaded, are lying off the mole end day after day inactive: for instance, to-day there is not water for them to come alongside the mole, and in order that the lightermen may, by this means, economise cartage, the goods remain on board, to the great loss of merchants, who have paid high rates of freight in order to obtain their goods quickly. To-morrow, when the tide rises, it may come on to blow, and so from day to day we are prevented from obtaining our goods.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday morning the first news in town was the arrival of the Flamsteed, with dates from England to the 20th inst. The great punctuality of these Astronomical Mail Steamers makes this new line a great commercial convenience, the news will be found in our telegram from Montevideo, we expect the papers up this morning.

We learn with pleasure that it is the intention of the National Government, to name a special agent in this city, whose business it will be to obtain employment for all new arrivals, this is a decided improvement, and we have no doubt will be found a great convenience, the city is crowded with strangers at present, looking for employment. Mr. Melrose, a and hundred others are anxious and willing to employ as many as go up to them, but there is no one in town to guide the emigrant how to get to Frayle Muerto, or Entre Rios, save ourselves, and we have so much to do that we find it difficult to answer or attend to all the applicants, our only leisure time being before break of day.

It may interest American citizens in the River Plate, to know that the American consul in this city, has received instructions from the department of state in Washington not to issue any more protections. To-morrow we shall publish the correspondence on the subject, as Mr. Seward, enters into a very lucid disquisition of the question.

Yesterday our office was crowded with visitors inspecting the various articles brought down for our museum by Mr. G. P. Craufurd, amongst the crowd we noticed Don Diego Alvear, Don J M Cantilo, Don J Martinez de Hoz, Mr F and Mr W Woodgate, Mr W Welchman, Mr Frederick Moore, Mr Henry Hart, Mr Gilbert, Mr Smith, Mr Robertson, C E Captain —— and two ladies, Mr G Stewart, Mr T Fallon, Mr Beveridge, Mr Maguire, Navarro, Judge Hollister, American Consul, Col Orquera, Mr Black, the Engineers of the General Brown, Mr Tayliabue, Mr Oldham, and two fair visitors who unfortunately smashed our Paraguay-jar, and others whose names we forget. We publish to day a list of the articles which cannot fail to interest our readers. We very much fear that any impartial observer on visiting our office, will readily admit that there is but too much truth in the reports respecting the sacking of Asuncion.

On the 23rd inst. the general meeting of the shareholders of the Gas Co., will be held, when the new Board will be elected, and the report read.

A gentleman just arrived from San Pedro, states that it has not rained a drop out in that direction, whilst in towards Lujan the camps are all flooded; the camps of San Pedro, are in rather a poor condition, and water is much required.

The Poitou leaves to morrow, she takes a full cargo, a mail is made up at the Post office, and Mr. Bonnemason, the affable agent will take charge of parcels &c.

A subscription in Asuncion, has been made for the unfortunate Mr. Taylor, £47 already collected and handed to him, he may be soon expected down here.

The Director of the National college at San Juan, has petitioned the Government to found a drawing class, and German professorship in said establishment, to which prayer the Government has acceded, naming Don. Enrique Schade, professor of said branches.

At Salta the Director of the college is anxious to open evening classes for workmen, all the professors having offered their gratuious services. The cost of these new classes will be trifling, and the Governmet has sanctioned the project.

The President of the "Junta del Credito Público," Sr. Oroño, has written to the Minister of Finance, informing him of their having closed their branch establishment at Rosario, finding it of no advantage to keep it open.

We find by the traffic report of the Central Argentine Railway for the month of December, 1868, that there has been an increase in almost all branches over the previous year. The passenger traffic shows an increase of 40 per cent., and in the goods traffic the increase is still more marked, being fully 100 per cent. The number of troops and amount of war materials carried is also larger; and the nett increase in the receipts amounts to $10,793 42, hard dollars, or £2,202 14s 9d sterling. This shows a very favorable state of things, and augurs well for what may be expected when the line is completed.

The Government are not allowing any 'grass to grow under their feet' respecting the frontier question. Yesterday morning another reinforcement, comprising a company of infantry and a battery of artillery, was sent to join Colonel Campos' command on the southern frontier. They arrived at the terminus in the Plaza Constitucion about nine o'clock, and in the incredibly short space of one hour they were enabled to start for their destination. The promptitude and punctuality with which they were despatched reflects the highest credit on Mr. Lodge, the Chief Inspector, who had charge of the arrangements. The intelligence and activity displayed by this gentleman in all cases of emergency have enabled him to rise to his present post and secured for him the confidence both of his employers and the public.

In reply to the offer of the Provincial Government to send 4 regiments to the frontier for one year, instead of the present service term of 6 months, the National Government has accepted, regretting at the same time that the continuance of the war obliged them to send National Guards on this service instead of troops of the line. Respecting the proposed increase of pay to the National Guards, the National Government can see no reason for it all being equally bound to fight for the honour of the country, whether National Guards or troops of the line.

The Provincial Chamber of Deputies held a sitting on the 16th inst. Some routine business having been transacted, the house passed to the order of the day, and amongst others the following projects were agreed to:—All saladeros within thirty squares of any provincial town outside a line drawn from Ensenada to Merlo, and from thence along the river Las Conchas to Lujan, will be exempted from the payment of saladero tax for a period of five years.

One hundred millions of 6 per cent Bonds were authorised to be issued for the extension of the Western Railway to Bragado, the amortization to be 1 per cent.

The Argentine war steamer, 'General Browne' arrived in port last Friday evening, bringing in tow from Asuncion the Italian barque ——, having on board the great Paraguayan trophies, consisting of some eight thousand hand pieces and eighteen field pieces. The wonder of South America is the 'creole' gun, which measures over sixteen feet long, all brass, rifled. This huge cannon broke in the decks of the vessel chartered to bring it down, and even with the aid of powerful machinery it was with the utmost difficulty landed at its destination, Martin Garcia.

On Wednesday, about 6 o'clock in the evening, a fearful event occurred at the Hotel de la Paz. An Englishman named Croft, who had been for some time stopping at the hotel threw himself from one of the windows in the upper story into the Calle Reconquista. The unfortunate man was fearfully mutilated by the fall, and was at once conveyed to the British Hospital, where he died yesterday morning. The cause of this sad attempt at self destruction is believed to be temporary aberration of mind, caused by private reverses. Application had been made early in the day for his admittance to the British Hospital, but for some reason the request was refused. On returning to his hotel a friend went in search of a doctor, unfortunately leaving Mr Croft alone, who took advantage of his absence to commit the rash act.

About noon on Wednesday a scuffle took place between a sergeant and private soldier, both belonging to the guard at the Cabildo. The sergeant drew his bayonet and inflicted a fearful wound on his adversary; he then attempted to escape, but after a hard chase was captured opposite the San Francisco Church. We also hear of no less than three other assassinations having taken place, one in Calle Salta, another in Calle San José, and another in Calle Lorea. The bloodspilling mania appears to be again rife, and some decisive step must be taken sooner or later by the authorities to put an end to it, or the consequences may be most disastrous to society.

THE WAR.

CHASE OF PARAGUAYAN STEAMERS.

Ironclad Bahia,

Sir.—I have the honour to inform you of the result of the commission you gave me with regard to the Paraguayan steamers.

According to your orders I set out from this anchorage on the 5th inst., at 5 p.m., in the Bahia, with the gunboats Mearin and Ivahy and the five monitors Pará, Alagoas, Piauhy, Santa Catharina and Ceará, up the Paraguay to the mouth of the Manduviré, anchoring at that place at 4,30 p.m.

I was informed that the steamers had taken refuge in the Manduviré, but this river being entirely unknown to our ablest and oldest pilots, and it having two months, I did not attempt it until after an exploration, which was made the same day in the monitor Pará by the pilot Bernardino.

The exploration being concluded by sunset we at once recognized that the Bahia and the two gunboats ought not to enter, because the river is very narrow and tortuous, and the commission could be carried out only by the monitors.

At daybreak next day I weighed with the division, leaving the three largest vessels anchored at the lower mouth, which is the most open. I transferred myself to the monitor Santa Catharina, at 5. a.m. the monitors were ascending the Manduviré finding 16 feet of water at all places. This river is one of the tributaries of the Paraguay, and its navigation is risky, especially for the monitors, because of the rapid and successive bends it makes in all its course.

Notwithstanding the slowness and bad steerage of the monitors, they continually running against the trees and banks, although having, the advantage of twin screws, they made about 70 miles by dusk.

At 4 p.m. the enemy's steamers were seen afar off and I made signal for full speed. They were going upstream and were towing some vessels. The monitors pushed on, but it was 6 p.m. before they reached the place where the enemy had been first seen. We then perceived with what precipitation the Paraguayans had left, they having sunk and abandoned barges, boats, and all they had in tow, which consisted of a fine new steamer with its two boilers and engine on deck, the steamer Coitetey (the old American vessel Yesuvius), much bogged, and cut down to pontoon, and a schooner named Rosario, laden with oil, grease, cordage and pulleys.

Without stopping, the monitors proceeded after the steamers until 7 p.m., when I lost hope of overtaking the enemy that day, who had entered into an arm of the river, still narrower and more sinuous, and I therefore ordered the monitors to anchor.

While passing the schooner, a boat appeared with a white flag, and six Paraguayans who surrendered themselves, one of whom they said was master of the schooner and the others seamen.

The master said Lopez had still five steamers, and that they were steaming since 8 a.m. He also said that an adjutant of Lopez came on the 6th with orders to bring back all the officers and mariners and to abandon the steamers, which were manned with 180 men, and two of them carried 32 pounders,

At daybreak of the 7th the monitors entered into an arm of the Manduviré, whose navigation was extremely difficult, and the many broken trees showed the efforts made by the enemy to escape. After 3 hours' steaming, making about 13 miles, we came upon the steamer Paraguay just sunk, obstructing and intercepting the passage from one side to the other. She had two new boilers on deck.

On examination I found there was no passing, and that to attempt it would be to sacrifice the monitors, by carrying away the screws or rudder, without succeeding in our end as the enemy showed his desperate resolve to go on sinking his steamers one by one, to obstruct the river, which was easy with high steamers as its width did not exceed 85 feet and its depth 21 feet.

Under these circumstances, as the enemy was dispirited, and scared, pursued for 80 miles up a river flowing from the interior of his territory, and his movements crippled by his own obstacles, I resolved to withdraw the monitors by steaming astern in the best manner possibel.

On leaving the arm of the river the Pará received a serious injury to her rudder, disabling it during the whole descent. The Alagóas towed her for some hours, but, in consequence of the twisting of the river, had to cast her off; however the Pará managed to steam astern and steer with screws to the Paraguay.

The Piauhy and Ceará were ordered to two the Coiretey if they could effect it without risk, but, after many efforts, they could not bring her, as she and the Ceará, which towed her, twice grounded, I therefore ordered her to be abandoned, as it was not worth while to expose a monitor to some serious injury on account of a hogged, leaky and old pontoon.

At 5 p.m. the monitors anchored opposite the Barros estancia, where there were many scattered cattle; but this estancia, like all the villages along the Manduviré was completely abandoned. At daylight of the 8th I set out with all the monitors, and at 5,30 p.m., we rejoined, at the mouth of the Manduviré, the gunboats and the Bahia, to which last I returned. To-day at 6 a.m., the whole division weighed and steamed downwards, arriving here at 10,30 a.m.; and it is now anchored in the place fixed by you.

In terminating, I have to inform you that all the monitors require important repairs to their engines, and likewise the rudder of the Pará, which vessel can carry out no commission until it be mended; and I am convinced that only for that devotion, zeal and good will of the commanders, officers, pilots, and crews in general, which you have often witnessed, we could not have chased the enemy's vessels to desperation, to near the source of a river into which he went at all risks and shut up his rear, to avoid capture or complete destruction.

God guard Your Excellency.

BARON DA PASSAGEM.

A NOBLE ACT.

Montevideo, Feb. 17, 1869.

To the Editors of the "Standard."

Gentlemen,

As probably it is known to you, my steamer Rosario was chartered by the Montevidean Cricketers to bring them down on Thursday last, and on arrival put in quarantine.

On the 13th the following incident occurred:—In the afternoon Mr. A. H. Coaker, ignorant of the strength of the current, went into the water to bathe; not being a strong swimmer, he was rapidly carried past the vessel and boat astern, and had sunk twice before the alarm was raised. Mr. H. Marshall, who was in the cabin when the shout of 'A man drowning!' was heard, rushed to the poop, and, observing Coaker's danger, seized a rope, and jumping into the water, a height of over fifteen feet, swam to him; when within two yards the rope became entangled, fully aware of his great danger in letting go the rope, being heavily encumbered with boots and clothes, he nevertheless did not hesitate in striking out, and reached Coaker as he was sinking for the third time. Lifting him well up, to give him air, he was enabled, by the most strenuous exertions, assisted by Mr. Coaker's presence of mind in not hampering his action, to support the latter until the boat reached them, and both men were pulled in—Coaker insensible, and Marshall exhausted.

Such a noble act requires no comment, and I, therefore, only add that never in my experience and many similar events that I have witnessed, have I seen a life rescued at such extreme peril to the rescuer.

All praise is also due to my old friend Captain Peter Capper and Mr. W. E. Graham (my pilot), for promptitude in manning the boat that put off to the rescue.

I feel it my duty to give you the particulars of this praiseworthy act, and will esteem it a favor if you will give it publicity. "Honor to whom honor is due."

I am, Gentlemen,
Yours, obediently,
SAMUEL DE FOREST,
Master.

CUNAPIRU GOLD MINES.

Cuñapirú, Banda Oriental,
Jan. 26, 1869.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

In your issue of the 1st instant (received on the 24th) appears under the above heading a communicated article which will have clearly proved to the more imaginative of your readers that "the success of mining is a branch of industry depending entirely upon economy, with practical ideas," whatever that may mean.

With that part of your correspondent's theme I have nothing to do, but as he has introduced, at the close of his second paragraph, malicious and libellous insinuations, which he has not the courage to elaborate into a fair, straightforward attack, I cannot allow this article to pass without protesting against the admission into your columns of statements calculated to prejudice public opinion, none the less so that those statements are as full of malice as they are void of foundation.

Apologising for trespassing thus far upon your space,

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
A SUBSCRIBER.

P.S. I enclose my card.

WHERE IS MR. FROUD?

Boston, Dec. 10, 1868.

Dear Sir,

I am about to ask a favour of you which I hope you will be able to grant. I have a brother who left Boston thirteen years ago; it is now about three years since I have heard from him. He was then in Buenos Ayres, and had been there since he left Boston. I understood that he was connected either by business or in the employ of Messrs. Mulhall, proprietors of the Buenos Ayres 'Standard.' He went from England to Buenos Ayres in an English barque: the letter I received from him thirteen years ago stated that he deserted the vessel. He then changed his name from John Froud to Robert Hore, or Moor, or Ware, I don't understand which, as I could not make out the first letter of the last name. He is about thirty-two years of age, and about five feet six inches in height; blue eyes, dark brown hair, and a very high forehead. I have written to Mr. Mulhall about two years ago, and enclosed a photograph of my brother, but I received no answer. I expect he is in St Pedro, as one of his letters advised me to direct there; I did so, but received no answer. I have another brother in Buenos Ayres, named Thomas Froud; he was stopping at a sailors' boarding-house, kept by Mr. Murray, about six years ago. He is six feet two inches in height, and very stout in proportion; light blue eyes, very dark hair, and now about twenty-six years of age. If you cannot find them out by your own experience, I should like you would give their names to some Roman Catholic clergyman who speaks the English language, so that he may have their names published from the altar. If you will have the kindness to do all in your power to find out the whereabouts of both, you will confer a great favour on their parents, sister, and brothers.

I remain your obedient servant,
WM. P. FROUD.

National Bonds,	54⅝

The Bond market opened weak, but closed firm and with an upward tendency. The Bond market, nevertheless, is decidedly unsteady. The state of affairs in Montevideo is so unsatisfactory that very little reliance can be placed on the money market here. It was said today that all the specie ordered for Montevideo has been already shipped; but the steady rise in the value of the paper money of Montevideo is regarded as a certain sign that the Government does not contemplate meddling with the present bank law, and that the liquidation of the Mauá Bank can be regarded as permanent. It is reasonable to suppose, therefore, that more gold has yet to be shipped. The rise in the market today was in a measure attributed to a rumour that certain parties were forced to deliver up Bonds upon which they had made advances. The business in National Bonds, it is observed, is steadily increasing. Outsiders are each day found to dabble more willingly in these securities; and parties who buy bonds and pay for them hold them as an investment until prices go up to offer an inducement to sell; but for this Bonds would have fallen this week much more than they have, but the investing public have such firm faith in the credit of the Government that only speculators sell bonds at a loss.

It was stated on 'Change to-day that the Argentine Government has arranged a credit in London, enabling the Finance Minister to draw whatever funds the Government required. This is a very important matter, although for the last month the National Government has so economically managed its finances, that the Minister has found it unnecessary to draw on the monthly credit arranged at the Provincial Bank.

Rather alarming news was current about 3 o'clock, respecting the state of the Uruguay. It appears that some well known Blanco officers have invaded the Banda Oriental, and taken the towns of Paysandu and Salto; at least such was the current report on 'Change, which, on enquiry, we discovered to have much foundation. It is as yet, however, impossible to say the probable extent of this new disturbance.

A letter, purporting to be signed by Mr Sichel the broker, and explaining the question respecting the fraudulent coupons, was freely circulated on the Bolsa. Mr Sichel's conduct in at once leaving Europe to come to the Plate to answer the charges made by the director of the Credit Office, is highly approved by all.

The auction sale of the two lighters at the Riachuelo came off to day. They fetched 900 patacons each, and were bought by Messrs. Casares.

Some fears are entertained for the safety of the American mail steamer Mississippi. She left Rio on the 26th, and up to the 5th February had not arrived at Bahia. She had a cargo of 15,000 bags of coffee, and numerous passengers, amongst others M. La Croze of this City.

WATER SUPPLY.

HOUSE SERVICE.

THE MAIN PIPES for the supply of perfectly pure filtered water are now laid in the Calles Libertad, Lima, Rivadavia, Bolivar, Florida, and part of Santa Fé, and water will be supplied to the houses of the persons living in those streets, who apply for it.

The Commission named by the Government, therefore, requests the owners and tenants of houses who wish to have the water laid on to make applications, which will be attended to in order of priority.

The cost of laying the service pipes to houses will be chargeable to the owners or tenants, and will be fixed before commencing the work.

It is as yet difficult to estimate with certainty the amount, but as a general rule it will not exceed $100 m/c. for a single cock in the first patio, to $3,500 for a complete supply all through the house.

For manufactures and special establishments of all kinds, the price will be according to agreement.

In every case the supply will be unlimited and constant, that is, any quantity of water may be drawn from the cocks at any hour, day or night.

The scale of prices for the supply will be as follows, and has been approved of by the Government.—

WATER SUPPLY.

MONTHLY SCALE OF CHARGES.

Private houses.....3 per cent. on the rent.
Hotels, 1st class .....$40 per room.
Do. 2nd class..... 20 do.
Do. 3rd class..... 15 do.

Restaurants and Cafes:

1st class		$8
2nd do		500
3rd ditto		300

Bathing Establishments by metre, at the rate of $2 per 100 gallons.

Stables, $15 per stall
Carriages, $20 each
Bakeries, $300 do
Smith Shops, $50 per forge
Shops generally, Bazaars, Stores, &c.	Rent being over $4000....	$70
Confectioners,	Do. 2500 to 4000...	55
Apothecaries,	Do. 1000 to 2500...	45
Shoemakers, Tailors, &c. &c.	Do. below 1000....	30
Manufactories, Banks, Bolsa, Railway Stations, Markets, Clubs, Special Establishments, Schools, Printing Offices, Custom House Stores, Gardens, Steam Engines, &c &c	By agreement.
Water Carriers, $300 per cart.

The price will be regulated according to the amount of consumption, and the number of fire cocks required.

In Manufactories, Stores, and every other kind of establishment, pipes, cocks, stand pipes can be provided, both for supply and for hand use, to flood the establishment, if necessary, in case of fire.

The pressure in the pipes will be sufficient to throw the water, by means of a hose, to a height of 14 varas over the roof of the highest building in Buenos Ayres—for instance, the Church of San Miguel.

EXTENSION OF THE PIPING.

As the Government wishes to extend over the largest area the advantages and economy which a supply of water in the houses will afford, the Commission has been authorised to lay pipes in the streets not as yet provided with them, by means of advances, on account of the rates for supply, to be made by the inhabitants.

The Commission, therefore, with authority from the Government, will provide water mains for the entire city on the following conditions:—

1. The inhabitants of any square can have the pipes laid in it, including the service pipes as far as the doors of the houses, by paying on account of the future supply $18,000 (eighteen thousand dollars currency) which would be equivalent to $65 (sixty-five dollars currency) per vara of frontage.

2. In exchange for this advance, the Commission will hand over vales which will serve for the payment for the water to be supplied, and which may be used in any part of the city.

3. At the Boca calle and centre of each square will be placed a hydrant, or fire-cock, from which water can be taken for watering the streets, or in case of fire, when, as before stated, it can be thrown, without any necessity for fire-engines, fifteen varas over the roof of the highest house.

PUBLIC STAND PIPES.

At the public stand pipes in the plazas and at other convenient points—in all thirty—the public can take water gratis, for private or public use, but not for sale.

Those who take water for sale, water-carriers or others, will pay at the established rate.

The Commission thinks it unnecessary to dwell on the advantage of an unlimited house supply of water, and will give any information required in the office, established for the time at Mr. Coghlan's, 87 Reconquista.

Buenos Ayres, February, 1869.

Kemp's Vegetable Worm Pastiles.

I Certify that I have for many years been physician in the Hospitals of this city, and have had occasion to test the effects of "Kemp's Worm Pastilles." SUMMER
"With all thy faults I love thee still."

Yes! 'tis true, we are in the midst of Summer charms, we have our merry Pic-nics under the umbrageous foliage of the weeping willow, or gliding pleasantly o'er the rippling wavelet, see happy children gambolling on the green award replete with health and enjoyment, while the feathered songsters give forth the most beautiful music, and all is happiness on earth; but, no! Summer is not faultless, Heat, stifling, suffocating, Heat-sickening is Summer's bane, and we require something to counteract its evil influence
